

When we moved to Zambia, one of the first attachments we made was with Jackson Katampi. He was orphaned at age 7 as his father ran away and died and his mother went insane. He lived with an aunt and uncle in the village where we ministered but after a few years both of them died leaving Jackson and his brother to fend for themselves. They found an aunt in Livingstone willing to let them sleep at her house but not eat there. Long story shorter, he is now in Vet school at the University of Lusaka. We have been helping him for some time to accomplish something great for the glory of God. His character is godly, he continues to be a leader of Bible studies, winning the most to Christ and all the while being one of the top 10 at the university. Recently he was invited to attend a short term class on various sciences, at the University of South Africa in Pretoria. It will cost nearly $1200 to accomplish this after paying for a passport.

Light of Africa has ensured he obtained a passport and are in hopes of raising funds for him to go on the study trip to South Africa. If you want to partner with us to send Jackson to South Africa, please join the team by sending your tax deductible donation to Light of Africa. You will need to let David Douglas, the Treasurer for Light of Africa, know that your donation is for Jackson.
